PROJECTS

Multi-Hazard Disaster Prevention System

ECE Project

- Designed and developed an ESP32-based multi-hazard disaster prevention system capable of detecting and monitoring multiple environmental hazards using integrated sensors.
- Developed embedded control logic and hardware interfacing to process sensor data and trigger appropriate alerts in response to detected hazards.
- Implemented real-time monitoring and testing to improve the system's detection accuracy, responsiveness, and reliability during hazardous conditions.

SRS Document on Food Delivery Apps

Academic Project

- Prepared a Software Requirements Specification document for a food delivery application, defining system scope, users, and core requirements.
- Documented functional and non-functional requirements, user interactions, and key system workflows in a structured format.
- Organized requirements to provide a clear reference for application design, development, and testing.

Community Development Project

Lovely Professional University

- Participated in an LPU community development project focused on identifying community needs and contributing to practical solutions.
- Worked collaboratively on planning, execution, and community-oriented activities while developing communication and leadership skills.
